

SENKISEM

CREATOR PLAYBOOK

The step-by-step guide to becoming the international voice of Senkistem.

Version 2 — Updated

SECTION 0: MINDSET BEFORE ANYTHING ELSE

This is not a job. This is a business you are running inside a brand. Treat it like one.

The people who succeed in this program are not the best editors. They are not the most technical. They are the ones who treat their profile like an entrepreneur treats a startup.

What that means in practice:

- You own your profile. It is your asset, your audience, your reputation.
- You make decisions. You test, you learn, you adjust. Nobody tells you what to post today.
- You are accountable to yourself. Not to us. We don't check in on you. Your earnings check in on you.
- You think long-term. An account you build for 6 months is worth more than a campaign that runs for 2 weeks.
- You identify with the brand. Not because you have to. Because you genuinely do.

The founder will not contact you asking why you didn't post. That is not the relationship. The relationship is: you build something real, the brand supports you, and you both grow. If you stop building, you stop earning. That's it.

Entrepreneur mentality means: every post is an investment. Every comment reply is relationship-building. Every person who buys through your code is a customer you brought to the brand. This is your business.

SECTION 0.5: BRAND IDENTITY

Before you touch CapCut or post a single thing, understand what this brand IS. Not what it looks like. What it IS.

What is Senkistem?

Senkistem (Hungarian for "Nobody") is a message, not a brand. It was born from two books written from a place of radical honesty. The brand sells books, streetwear, and a philosophy. The audience is people who feel things deeply and can't always explain why.

Book 1: Notes from a Stranger

The entry point. A soft, intimate book of questions and raw thoughts. Does not give answers. Asks the right questions. Makes people feel understood without having to explain themselves. Warm but not cheerful. Honest but not brutal. The most accessible Senkistem product.

Book 2: User Manual for Life (Spoiler: It Won't Help)

A system-level diagnosis of the human condition. Identity as algorithm. Personality as survival mechanism. Ego as protection protocol. Written in a tech/code aesthetic with glitch elements. Cold, analytical, then suddenly human. Does NOT comfort. Reveals. Deeper, more niche. Not everyone is ready for it.

CRITICAL: Senkistem is NOT self-help. NOT motivation. NOT toxic positivity. It is radical honesty about the human experience. If your content makes someone feel warm and fluffy about their problems, you have missed the brand.

Tone Reference

Senkistem content is: raw, resonant, uncomfortably familiar, honest without being cruel, philosophical without being pretentious, melancholic without being hopeless.

Senkistem content is NOT: motivational, hustle-culture, generic self-love, aesthetic-only, preachy, sentimental.

The Audience

Primary market: USA and worldwide English-speaking audiences. Young adults (18-32) who consume philosophy, self-awareness, mental health, and introspective content. The kind of person who saves posts at midnight and doesn't tell anyone why.

Comparable Creators to Study

- @fillyourcupbook / Fill Your Cup Book (Instagram) — book content with emotional hooks

- Existential TikTok creators (search: #philosophytiktok, #deepthoughts, #selfreflection)
- Any creator who resonates with Senkistem

Do NOT copy. Understand the emotional mechanism. Express it in the Senkistem voice.

25. Key features to learn first: text animation, muted film filters, royalty-free audio search, Templates, Ideas.

SECTION 2: CONTENT CREATION

2.1 How Content Works in Phase 1 (First 1-2 Months)

IMPORTANT: In the beginning, you will NOT have a physical copy of the books. The founder will send you pre-approved content assets: specific book pages (as images), pre-selected quotes, and slider templates. Your job is to bring them to life with your voice, your edits, and your creative instincts.

Phase 1 content (what you work with):

- Pre-approved book page images (sent by founder)
- Slider/carousel templates (sent by founder)
- AI-generated handwriting over those images (see Section 2.2)
- Original non-book content you source yourself (see Section 2.3)

Phase 2 (earned access):

Creators who perform consistently and build genuine traction will receive physical copies of both books. At that point, real book-in-hand filming becomes possible and expected.

2.2 AI-Generated Handwriting — How to Do It Right

Since you don't have the physical book at first, you will simulate the "handwritten thought next to the page" format using AI tools. Here is exactly how to do this without it looking fake.

Step 1: Write the thought YOURSELF first

Before opening any AI tool, open a notes app and write the thought in your own words. This is non-negotiable. The thought must come from you. It must be something you actually feel or believe. If you cannot think of an honest thought in response to the book page, go back to the page and sit with it longer.

Step 2: Refine with AI if needed

If English is not your first language, or if you want to make the phrasing sharper, you can use ChatGPT or Claude to refine your thought. Prompt example:

"I have this thought in response to a quote about loneliness: [your raw thought]. Help me express it more clearly in 1-2 sentences without changing the meaning or making it sound motivational."

Then: read the AI output. If it sounds like a motivational poster, reject it and write your own version. If it sounds like something you would actually say, use it.

Step 3: Generate realistic handwriting

Step 4: Make it look real

- Slightly uneven baseline (not perfectly straight)
- Modest font size (not huge, not tiny) — like someone actually wrote in a margin
- Dark ink color: black or very dark navy. Never colored.
- Placed naturally near the relevant text on the page, not floating in empty space
- If using Canva: rotate the text layer very slightly (1-2 degrees) for organic feel

NOTE: The thought must be original every time. Do not use the same line twice. Do not copy thoughts from other creators. Do not use generic AI prompts like 'write a deep thought about loneliness.' Your specific, personal reaction is what makes it work.

2.3 Non-Book Content — What Else You Can Post

Not every post needs to be a book page. In fact, variety is important. Here are content formats that fit the Senkischem brand even without the books:

Format: Sky + Thought

A wide shot or video of a sky (clouds, sunset, dusk, a grey overcast morning) with a single resonant line of text overlaid. The thought connects to the Senkischem emotional world: isolation, self-perception, the weight of being conscious.

Examples:

- Overcast sky + "Everyone is performing for someone who stopped watching."
- Sunset + "There's a version of you that isn't exhausted. You've never met them."
- Early morning light + "You woke up again. That's not nothing."

Format: One-Line Text Post (Threads / X)

A single sentence that lands like a gut punch. No image needed. No explanation. Just the line.

Format: Personal Moment + Brand Connection

A real moment from your day or your environment — an empty coffee cup, a rainy window, an untouched notebook — paired with a thought that connects to the Senkistem world. This is the most personal format. It is also the most powerful.

Format: Question Post

Just a question. No answer. No explanation.

- "When did you last feel like yourself?"
- "What would you stop doing if no one was watching?"
- "Do you actually like your life or do you just tolerate it?"

Format: Observation / Short Essay (Threads/X)

2-5 sentences on something you noticed about people, yourself, or how the world operates. Written in first person. Specific, not generic. This is your voice, not the brand's. And that is fine — because if you are the right person for this, your voice and the brand's voice overlap naturally.

THE RULE FOR ALL CONTENT: Ask yourself, does this feel like something a real person thought, or does it feel like content? If it feels like content, start over.

2.4 The Core Book Format (When You Have Assets)

This is the format that consistently performs. When the founder sends you book page images:

26. Receive the book page image from founder
27. Read it. Sit with it. What does it make you actually feel?
28. Write your own thought in response (see Section 2.2)
29. Place the thought visually on the image using CapCut or Canva
30. Build the video: slow zoom on the page, text appears, hold, close to cover (you can use the cover image for the final frame)
31. Caption + CTA comment

2.5 Finding Your Own Resonant Content

Beyond the assets the founder sends, you should always be looking for content angles that resonate with the brand. Here is how to build that instinct:

The test for any content idea:

- Does this connect to identity, loneliness, self-perception, consciousness, or honest human experience?
- Would someone at 2am save this?
- Does this feel true in a way that is slightly uncomfortable?
- Is this something I would post even if no one paid me to?

If yes to most: use it.

2.6 Using AI Tools — The Correct Rules

AI is a tool, not a voice.

Allowed:

- Caption brainstorming: generate 10 options, then rewrite and choose yourself
- Handwriting simulation (see 2.2)
- English refinement: if your first language is not English, AI helps polish your already-written thought
- Hashtag research
- Research: what content formats are performing in the philosophy/introspection niche right now?

Not allowed:

- Posting an AI-written caption without personal editing
- Using AI to generate the core thought on a book page
- Responding to comments with AI-generated text
- Bulk-generating a week of captions without genuine thought behind each one

The entire brand identity is built on honesty. Faking human connection in a brand about human connection is the worst possible contradiction.

2.7 Video Production Walkthrough (TikTok / Reels, IG)

Equipment:

- Smartphone with decent camera
- Natural light near a window (no direct harsh sun)
- CapCut installed
- Book page image from founder (Phase 1) or physical book (Phase 2)

Production steps:

32. Set up near a window. Soft natural light. Minimal background.
33. If using a phone screen to show the book page: hold it steady, film the screen at a slight angle to reduce glare.
34. Record 5 seconds of the page visible.
35. Add the text overlay (your thought) in CapCut. Slow fade-in.

36. End shot: close or fade to black. 2-3 seconds.
37. Total length: maximum-8.10 seconds (TikTok sweet spot: 6-8 sec).
38. Audio: slow, melancholic instrumental.
39. Color grade: Film or Cine filter in CapCut. Slightly desaturated. Not black-and-white.
40. Export: 1080x1920 vertical, highest quality. (Presets are Perfect.)

2.8 Caption Formula

Line 1 — Hook: The hardest-hitting line. One sentence. Make it land.

Lines 2-3 — Bridge: Deepen without over-explaining.

Blank line (dash or period)

Last line — Soft invite: "Ever felt this?" / "Which part of this did you not expect?"

Hashtags: 3-5. Examples: #senkisem #selfreflection #philosophy #deepthoughts #booksoftiktok

First comment (posted immediately after): Your CTA.

- "Free worldwide shipping with code [YOURCODE] at senkisem.com"
 - "Link in bio — it only gets more real from here."
 - "Which book do you start with: the questions or the diagnosis?"

SECTION 3: YOUR PROMO CODE — THE FREE SHIPPING ADVANTAGE

Your promo code does not just earn you commission. It gives the customer FREE worldwide shipping. This is your strongest conversion tool.

The audience is primarily USA-based and worldwide English speakers. International shipping can be a barrier to purchase. Your promo code removes that barrier entirely. This is a genuinely compelling reason for someone to use your code rather than just going to the website directly.

How to Use This in Your CTAs

Do not just say "use code X for discount." That is weak. Say what it actually does:

- "Free shipping worldwide with code [YOURCODE] at senkistem.com"
- "Link in bio — use [YOURCODE] to get it shipped anywhere, free."
- "The book ships for free to the US, Philippines, UK, anywhere — code [YOURCODE] at senkistem.com"

When someone in the comments asks "does it ship to [country]?" — this is a golden conversion moment. Reply:

"Yes, and with code [YOURCODE] the shipping is free anywhere in the world." Then move on. Don't oversell.

Your Commission Math (Honest)

Orders/month	Avg order $40	At 20%	At 40%
20	$800	$160/mo	$320/mo
50	$2,000	$400/mo	$800/mo
100	$4,000	$800/mo	$1,600/mo
300+	$12,000+	$2,400+/mo	$4,800+/mo

Orders happen while you sleep. Once your account has traction and the content is live, the audience is always active across time zones. A post you made three weeks ago can drive an order today.

SECTION 4: PLATFORM-SPECIFIC STRATEGY

4.1 TikTok

- First 30 minutes after posting are critical. The algorithm tests reach based on early engagement.
- Best posting times for US audience: 7-9am EST, 12-1pm EST, 7-10pm EST. Adjust for your timezone accordingly.
- Watch time is the top metric. First 2-3 seconds must demand attention.
- Post 5-7x/week minimum for first 3 months. Consistency builds algorithmic trust.
- First comment: post within 60 seconds of publishing. Genuine, not generic.
- Reply to every comment in the first 2 hours. Even brief replies extend engagement window.

4.2 Instagram

- Reels outperform single photos for discovery.
- Carousel posts get the most saves — saves are the most powerful signal for the algorithm.
- Stories: 5-7/week. Mix: book snippets, polls, questions, brief personal observations.
- Post 4-6x/week to feed. Daily stories.

4.3 Threads

- High-frequency platform. Post 3-5x/day.
- Format: raw one-liners, philosophical observations, questions, reactions.
- Cross-post your Instagram caption as a Thread on the same day.
- Engage with other accounts actively — replies, not just posts.

4.4 X (Twitter)

- Post 3-5x/day.
 - Mix: book quotes, original observations, questions, thread formats.
 - Threads (5-10 tweets) get significantly more reach than single posts.
 - Engage with philosophy, mental health, and book communities actively.

SECTION 5: MASTER WEEKLY CHECKLIST

You are not being checked. But your account is.

SUNDAY

- ☐ Review last week: what performed, what didn't, one lesson learned
- ☐ Identify 3-5 content angles for the week (book assets or original)
- ☐ Pre-draft captions for 3 posts minimum

MONDAY

- ☐ Post 1 TikTok or Reels
- ☐ Post 3-5 Threads
- ☐ Respond to all weekend comments

TUESDAY through SATURDAY

- ☐ Post minimum 1 piece of content per day across your primary platforms
- ☐ Respond to comments within 2 hours of posting
- ☐ Post daily stories on Instagram
- ☐ At least 1 engagement action per day on relevant external accounts

Monthly Audit

- ☐ Total posts vs. target
 - ☐ Average engagement rate (IG >3%, TikTok >5%)
 - ☐ Follower growth month-over-month
 - ☐ Orders generated via promo code
 - ☐ Commission earned
 - ☐ Brand compliance: any red lines approached?
 - ☐ Level-up eligible?

SECTION 6: HOW TO ACTUALLY FEEL THE BRAND

This is the part that separates the people who last from the people who don't.

The single biggest failure mode is performing the brand instead of living it. Senkiseem works because the original content was genuinely felt. You replicate that by genuinely engaging — not by following a formula.

6.1 Your Immersion Week (Before First Post)

41. Read Book 1 completely. Do not skim. Allow yourself to feel it.
42. Find 3 pages that personally hit hardest. Note why.
43. Read Book 2. It is harder. Let it be hard.
44. Spend one evening on TikTok and Instagram studying comparable accounts. Note what made you stop scrolling.
45. Write, by hand or in notes, 10 thoughts the books made you think. Do not share these. They are for building your voice.

If the books feel like just books to you, this is not the right program. Not as judgment — as reality. You cannot authentically represent something that doesn't move you.

6.2 The Authenticity Test for Any Piece of Content

- Would I be slightly uncomfortable if someone who knows me saw this? (Good sign: it's real)
- Does this make me want to send it to someone specific? (Good sign: it resonates)
- Is this something I've seen a hundred times before? (Skip it)
- Does this feel like it's trying to get likes? (Start over)

6.3 Common Mistakes

Mistake	Fix
Posting only when inspired	Inspiration is a muscle. Work it daily. Some posts will be less inspired. Post anyway.
Using only book content, nothing personal	Your own sky, your own observations, your own questions are all valid and often outperform book-only content.
Explaining the brand in every caption	Never. Let the content be the brand. Show, don't pitch.
Waiting for the founder to tell you what to do	You own this. Make decisions. Test. Fail. Try again. That is the job.
Treating the promo code as an afterthought	The code is free shipping worldwide. That is a real value. Lead with it naturally, not desperately.

SECTION 7: ESCALATION & TROUBLESHOOTING

Contact the Founder Immediately When:

- Account banned, restricted, or flagged
- Legal issue in comments or DMs
- Press or journalist inquiry
- Partnership or collab offer from another brand
- Post goes unexpectedly viral (10k+ views in 24h)
- You realize you have violated a brand guideline in a live post

Creative Block Protocol

46. Reread 20 pages of Book 1 with no phone nearby.
47. Write 5 sentences starting with: "No one talks about how..."
48. Watch 10 minutes of comparable TikTok content.
49. Pick the most uncomfortable thing you wrote. Post that.

If blocked for 3+ consecutive days: contact the founder. Not weakness. That is what the structure is for.

Negative Comments / Trolls

- Never fight. Never argue. Never delete (unless asked for or violation).
 - Genuine criticism: respond thoughtfully. Good for the brand.
 - Trolls: no response. Block if necessary. Screenshot to founder.
 - Hateful content: report and block. Do not engage.

SECTION 8: PAYMENT & NON-NEGOTIABLES

Payment

- Paid monthly, by the 15th of the following month.
- Via Revolut (for Revolut can be payed every 2 weeks), PayPal or Wise.
- Minimum payout: $50 USD. Below this, rolls to next month.
- All payments in USD.
- You are responsible for your own tax obligations.

Non-Negotiables

- ☐ Never claim Senkiseem's words as your own original writing
- ☐ Never take a paid partnership on a Senkiseem account without written founder approval
- ☐ Do not accept DM-s. You do the creative we do the Customer Support.
- ☐ Never disclose commission rates, follower counts, or order data publicly
- ☐ Never use the account for personal content, other brands, or unrelated topics
- ☐ Never go silent for 7+ days without notifying the founder

The Long Game

Three months of consistent, genuine content builds something that keeps earning. Six months builds something that compounds. The accounts that grow the fastest are not the ones that post the most. They are the ones that post the most honestly.

You are not building a content calendar. You are building an audience that trusts you. That trust converts. Consistently, passively, and at scale.
